'The Wind in the Willows' in the Royal Tasmanian Botanical Gardens

Don't be surprised if you think you are strolling around the English countryside this summer at the Royal Tasmanian Botanical Gardens. Big Monkey's adaptation of 'The Wind in the Willows' is being performed from January 5th to 30th 2011, every Wednesday to Sunday.

Join in the fun on the Riverbank as the loveable Mole and her new best friend Ratty get mixed up in Toad's latest crazes. Come and help stop the impetuous Toad being carted off to gaol and join Badger and Otter as they try to save Toad Hall from being overrun by the Wild Wood Weasels.

Book now for this fast-moving, up to date adaptation of the Kenneth Grahame classic, starring Ryk Goddard as Toad, Jeff Michel as Ratty and Craig Wood as Badger, and introducing Tanya Langdon as Mole and Nichole Smith as Otter.

Public Season Dates:

January 5th to 30th 2011

Wednesday to Friday at 11am, Saturday at 2pm & 5pm, Sunday at 2pm

No performances on Mondays or Tuesdays

Supporting Big Monkey

If you are a Big Monkey fan, a cheeky monkey, or would like to be a supporter of Big Monkey and what we do, consider becoming a Big Monkey Member and/or Volunteer. Even kids won't feel left out with the Little Monkey Club just for them.

Little Monkey Club

Big Monkey's little fans can join a club of their own and have Big Monkey send a special greeting on their birthday and other surprises throughout the year. Just email us your name, an email address (can be Mum or Dad's) and your birthday date including the year you were born.

Big Monkey Volunteers

Big Monkey always welcomes people keen to help out as a volunteer on our productions – backstage, front of house and promotion; before, during and after the shows. Open to anyone aged 15 years or over. If you're interested in being a volunteer, email us your name, contact details and area of interest.

Big Monkey Membership

Support the company becoming a Big Monkey member and receive a free ticket to the Gala Night of 'The Wind in the Willows' in Dec 2010. Membership is $30 per annum. Contact us for more information.
